JOHN MOFFAT
FOUNDER

OUR STORY

“Created by my father John Moffat in 1974, Nutshell originated as a vending supply business called Intex, with the desire and vision to have customers at the heart of all we do. Ever the entrepreneur, seeing an opportunity in portion production across the UK and Europe, the vending business was sold off in 1989, and Intex evolved into what is now, Nutshell Portions.

With the hard work and dedication of our teams old and new, the business has grown over the past 30 years through its unfailing ability to engage with its customers from day one, developing trusted working relationships and offering a first class service in everything we do. This and a commitment to continuous improvement has created the Nutshell we know today. We have grown to be a thriving multi skilled business, ready and able to join you on your portion journey, be it personalised, generic or leading brand.

In a Nutshell, from our foundations of quality, ethical raw material sourcing, through the all-important stages of artwork creation, product tasting and material management, to our skilled manufacturing, packing and customer care teams, I am proud of where we are today.

We look to the future with one eye focused on ensuring long term trusted partnerships with both suppliers and customers, and the other fixed firmly on our development in delivery of creative, quality, cost effective, market relevant solutions. In doing this, Nutshell Portions continues my father’s great work and mission to live through its core goal of offering an unrivalled and personal service.”

“

We have been using Poldermill Hot Chocolate Sachets for a number of years now and it has been proven how successful it works with both hot water and fresh milk. The chocolate works very well in normal drinks but can also be added to coffee to create a Mocha. Our sales have grown by approx 11% and it sells as often in summer as it does in winter. We have tested several other brands but find that Poldermill is by far the preferred Chocolate.

A photograph of two glasses of iced coffee. The foreground glass is filled with a layer of white milk at the bottom, followed by a layer of light brown coffee syrup, and topped with several ice cubes. The background glass is similar but slightly out of focus. The glasses are on a dark blue cloth napkin, which is placed on a rustic wooden surface. Scattered around are coffee beans, a small spoon with brown sugar, and a few ice cubes.

MOMA PORRIDGE

The Moma porridge range uses a legendary blend of jumbo and fine oats that is exclusive to Moma, creating a creamy yet chunky texture. Perfect for those short on time, all Moma porridge needs is a pouring of hot water and a bit of patience. The gluten free porridge will then be ready to polish off at home, at your desk or even on the commute. Moma only use wholegrain oats which means they contain all 3 parts of the grain, which together provides fibre and a source of Vitamin B6, which plays a role in the production of energy in the body.
